Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Thursday 28 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Heavy rain this evening, easing overnight.

This Evening and Tonight:
This evening, further rain will sweep across the region, heavy at times, leading to possible flooding in southern parts. Overnight, these downpours will become largely confined to northern areas, with outbreaks in the south towards morning. Winds strengthening overnight. Minimum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Friday:
Patchy cloud throughout, allowing for clear spells for many, with a mixture of dry intervals and scattered outbreaks of rain and drizzle, or possible hill snow. Light winds, feeling cool. Maximum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Snow possible in the south on Saturday, dry elsewhere with icy conditions. Dry and initially very cold on Sunday, clouding over later. Cold and dry on Monday, with sunny spells.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.